

Buena Vista University's Showchoir Camp offers students an opportunity to develop their vocal and dance skills for participation in their school's showchoirs and musicals. Our BVU camp, July 29-31, features prominent directors, choreographers and judges with practical experience in developing student performance skills.

Our outstanding instructors, excellent facilities and comfortable working environment make this one of the outstanding music camp opportunities in the Midwest. Students are encouraged to become leaders for their own high school programs. Students may also elect to attend private vocal coaching and group voice lessons. Individual growth and development of musical skills is our basic emphasis.

The registration fee at BVU includes two nights of air-conditioned lodging, camp t-shirt, music for the assigned show, and all meals. Students enjoy planned social events following rehearsals each evening. Each student is assigned randomly to one of the four camp choirs. Each group prepares a full show for presentation during the final camp show at 3 p.m. on Sunday. The finale camp show is videotaped for purchase following the performance. Students gain from their own group's performance and from observing the other choir's work.

BVU Showchoir Camp is designed to teach new skills, develop leadership potential and create appreciation for group music excellence.
